C&A officially opened its first store in Groningen in 1902. At that time, the shop was located on Vismarkt. Today, however, the large, recognisable C&A building most locals associate with the brand is located at the corner of Herestraat and Zuiderdiep. The relocation occurred in the late 1920s, and today the C&A is commonly referred to as the “Head of the Herestraat”. In May 2025 construction fences have been placed around the store. The building is undergoing a major renovation that is predicted to last until the end of 2026, with some suspecting it may prolongate into early 2027.
